Redwood Security Management provides security provisions within the United Kingdom. We work closely with all clients to provide security services you can control and measure.

Whether corporate, leisure, residential or construction, your security needs are our priority.

Founded in 2007, Redwood Security Management Limited has over 14 years' experience and a glowing reputation that speaks for itself.

We work with a host of the UK's largest property management companies and directly with many "blue chip" companies, we're constantly developing our professional security business to offer the latest innovations as well as competitive security services.

More than just a security company

RSM is a privately-owned security service provider. This means our dedicated management team can devote their time to our core values: great people, great services, and great performance. Thanks to our extensive experience in all areas of security every single one of our security contracts receives the same outstanding service.

Personal service, Professional Solutions

We have responsive teams on hand across the UK to arrange tailored yet competitively priced options, and provide dependable services. Our highly trained security staff are one of our best assets, and the innovative methods they use mean that the frequency, time and requirements are always arranged to suit our clients.

Manned Security

We customise our services to match your needs

RSM provides a high quality, personal, professional and caring range of manned security services throughout the UK. All of our security personnel are SIA licensed and vetted to British Standards BS7858 ensuring reliability, continuity and the ability to offer the highest calibre of security to all contracts. Our service is carefully tailored to meet our clients exact requirements.

We work with a host of the UK's largest facility management companies and "blue chip" corporate companies with our aim to provide consistently high standards of service.

Whether corporate, leisure, retail, industrial, residential and many more, we have a service that can be tailored to your needs.

Front Desk, Reception & Concierge

Where the journey into your building begins

First impressions are highly important especially when entering a premise as a client, employee, contractor, landlord and general public.

This style of service needs to be highly professional both in appearance and execution. It is usual for us to agree the style of dress with our customers and scope of duties from the outset.

Delivering the quality levels that we promise requires the selection and recruitment of people that can demonstrate outstanding interpersonal skills, professionalism, experience, initiative and a strong commitment to quality.

Our teams receive a high level of training in people and communication skills, this ensuring they meet our customers' expectations in terms of professionalism and care which provides a journey for all contract stakeholders which is known as 'Hostmanship' within our industry.

Mobile Patrols & Keyholding

Providing response and mobile security within a limited area

Mobile guarding is a cost-effective protective service for small and medium-sized businesses. Mobile patrol inspections allow security guards to check in at your property at random, yet regimented times.

Our mobile security officers can provide regular patrol rounds, call-out services and the opening and closing of business premises.

We can provide efficient security services for many types of businesses, small or large, and across a variety of industries.

A key holding service is placed to respond to and resolve any emergency situation that might arise at your premise. There are risks involved in having even your own employees as a key holder.

Our key holding service has the capacity to respond to any alarm activation and resolve any problem that may occur.
